FOREX MARKET

The foreign exchange market, or currency market is a global decentralized or over-the-counter (OTC) market for the trading of currencies.

It sets the foreign exchange rates for every currency, involving all aspects of buying, selling, and exchanging currencies at current or predetermined prices.

The forex market, which provides opportunities to trade currencies as well as indices and commodities, boasts the highest trading volume in the world, surpassing even the credit market.

$7.5 TRILLION

Is currently the daily average trading volume

14 %

Increase of the average daily turnover on the forex market, compared to the daily volume of $6.6 trillion in 2019.

WHAT IS HIGH-FREQUENCY TRADING (HFT)?

High-Frequency Trading (HFT) revolutionizes Forex trading by harnessing the power of sophisticated algorithms and lightning-fast computers.

This innovative approach enables traders to seize opportunities from tiny price movements in the currency markets, all within the blink of an eye.

KEY ASPECTS

HFT boosts market liquidity, allowing quick buying and selling of currencies without major price changes.

HFT narrows bid-ask spreads, reducing trading costs and transaction fees.

HFT improves market efficiency by quickly correcting price discrepancies, ensuring accurate currency prices.

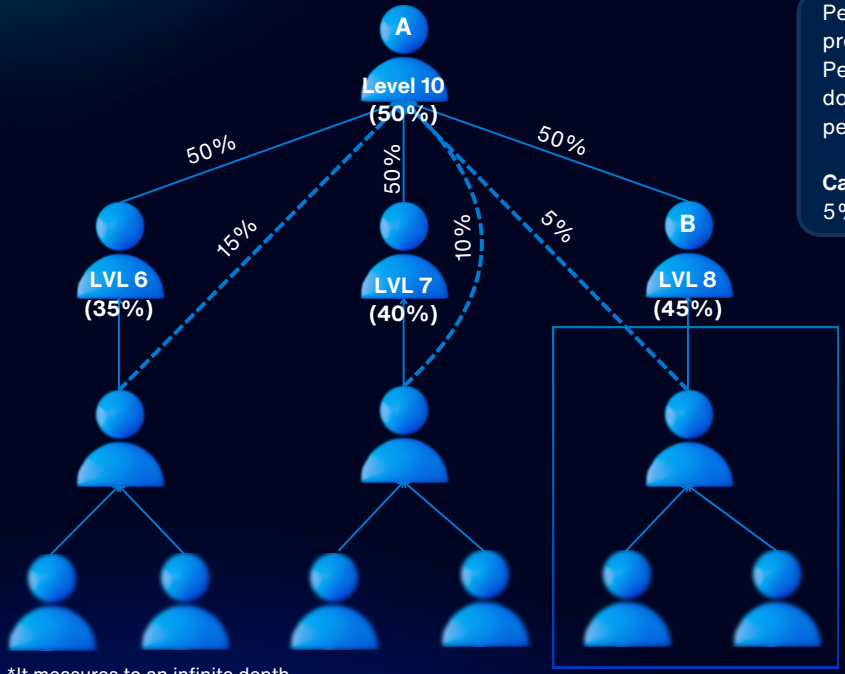
TEAM BONUS EXAMPLE



*It measures to an infinite depth.

Person A earns his full percentage (50%) on the profits of Person B, because it's his direct partner. Person A also earns on the profits of the entire downline of person B, but only the difference percentage between themselves.

Calculation: Person A (50%) - Person B (45%) = 5% difference

In this whole downline of Person B, a profit of 1000 usd was generated.

Due to the difference between Person A and Person B, person A will receive 5% of the generated profit
